Whether it's Shopping or Eating, Box Tops Help Out the Trojans
By Hannah Dominiak

How many of you eat cereal for breakfast? Or have granola bars for a midday snack? Box Tops are on almost everything these days, and they can be an enormous help for St. John.

Box Tops for Education is a program that helps local schools earn money when people purchase everyday necessities. There are over 75 different cereal brands participating in the Box Top program, and 45 different snack brands as well. Every time you buy a General Mills product, there's a Box Top on it. All you have to do is cut it out and send it to St. John. Do you like to shop online? There's a myriad of different online stores that give a percentage of money to the Box Top program: Avon, Barnes & Noble, Cabela's, Land's End, Target, and Wal-Mart are just some that participate.

According to the official Box Top site, last year St. John earned $1, 385. This year's goal is $1, 663. So far, SJB has only earned less than ten dollars.

If you want to support your alma mater, clip those Box Tops off your cereal and start shopping! Send the Box Tops in to the school. Even if you don't have a child currently attending St. John you can still show your love by sending in Box Tops. If from California or Massachusetts, send them in and give your support to the mighty Trojans.
